January 2021

New Year Greetings,

While it is impossible to guess how the new year will unfold, I am hopeful that the darkest months of the pandemic will soon be behind us. One thing I am certain of - our committees will continue their excellent work on behalf of Greenville Women Giving and our community.

Our Membership Committee has hosted Zoom information parties for women interested in learning more about GWG. And we've gained new members thanks to their efforts! Is there someone you would like to invite to join? Membership chair Judy Suggs would love to hear from you.

The entire Grants Review Committee participated in an online training session and now they are off and running - reading grant applications and preparing for virtual site visits. The members of the Education Committee are already planning our five programs for next year.

Speaking of Education, our 4th program of the year is on Tuesday, January 12 at 11:30 am on Zoom. We will hear about Unexpected Artisans; How Artistic Expression Transforms Lives. Please invite a guest or two, and enter their name and email address via the link below. It's a great way to introduce women to GWG. Click here to receive the Zoom link. Don't delay, the deadline is Sunday.

I will close with words borrowed from my fellow Co-Chair Mary Hipp -

Stay safe and be kind,

Emelia
